ELLE, the first women's magazine in the world!

On November 21, 1945, Hélène Lazareff launched the first issue of a women's magazine. Inspired by her stay in New York during the Second World War and her work as a journalist for Harper's Bazaar, she built her editorial line around exclusive and unparalleled access to fashion and beauty, while maintaining a close relationship with her readers.

Hélène Lazareff understood the need for women to be informed about trends, long before anyone else. She wanted the best for her readers, believing that they deserved to finally be considered as strong and independent women.

Since its creation, ELLE has been covering the emancipation of women, fighting against discrimination and campaigning for greater freedom and women's rights. Every week, ELLE captures the spirit of the times, making it accessible to women of all backgrounds, skillfully mixing reflection and frivolity and embodying feminine modernity.

Femininity enhanced by the expertise of fashion and beauty journalists and the eyes of photographers who boldly, energetically and creatively create the ELLE style.

Who better than ELLE can claim to know women? From generation to generation, and week to week, ELLE weaves an intimate bond with its readers, uniting women around a universal vision of femininity.

With its beauty expertise, ELLE presented its first make-up line in 2014. Based on the magazine's color codes, lipsticks, varnishes, eye shadows, mascaras, pencils and foundations were developed to create 3 emblematic looks: Nude, Fashionable and Chic. Upmarket, high-performance and innovative, easy-to-apply products at low prices. 5 years later, ELLE continues its cosmetic developments and has entrusted Collagena with the task of creating a range of masks and patches that embody today's women.

The concept

To offer innovative skin care products that provide optimal results in the shortest possible time!

The Elle by Collagena face masks and patches are the result of research, based on Collagena's know-how and the magazine's strong identity. The Elle by Collagena face masks and patches reflect the audacity, creativity and energy of the ELLE style.
